Cathy N. Davidson (Graduate Center, CUNY) will discuss her new book and show how we can revolutionize our universities to help students be leaders of change, not simply subject to it.

How can we revolutionize the university to better prepare students for our age of constant change?

How can we retool our classrooms as activist, engaged learning environments that model a more just society?

Co-sponsored by: Arts Division, Physical & Biological Sciences Division, Baskin School of Engineering, Student Achievement & Equity Innovation, Literature Department, History Department, Social Sciences Division, Sociology Department, Philosophy Department, Chicano Latino Research Center
